Windsor Essex CHC teamed up with The Now House Project to bring sustainable thinking and design to this 60-year-old wartime home in the Bridgeview community. Completed for Ontario's 2nd annual Energy Conservation Week, this house is the first of five CHC homes that will get an energy makeover in the coming months.

Now House Windsor 5 will test five different energy reduction models to find the most cost effective approach to reducing energy costs in 125 similar houses in CHC's portfolio.

Receiving basic repairs and renewal, the first home is predicted to reduce energy use by 58%, reduce greenhouse gas emissions by 7.7 tonnes and provide a more comfortable, healthy home for years to come.

Join us in celebration of Energy Conservation Week and see what changes were made to this home and what the Now House Windsor 5 has in store for the other four houses.

The project is sponsored by the Ontario Power Authority and Whirlpool Canada.
